

CALL FOR PAPERS

Title: Human Capital and Sustainable Development – Capitale umano e sviluppo sostenibile

Guest Editor: Gaetano Lisi, eCampus University, Italy

Publisher: tab edizioni (<https://www.tabedizioni.it/>)

Book series: “Quale crescita? Economia, benessere e sostenibilità” (<https://www.tabedizioni.it/shop/books/series/quale-crescita-25>)

Call description: Human capital is considered the engine of economic growth. Furthermore, human capital accelerates the use of alternative sources of energy and reduces pollution emissions by promoting environmental awareness and facilitating the use of environment friendly technologies. Recently, however, the nexus between sustainable development and human capital has been analyzed in depth. This call for papers, therefore, welcomes high-quality chapters that deal with any aspect of the relationship between human capital and sustainable development. Contributions may be both theoretical and empirical. Worldwide (panel) analyses are preferred.

Language: Papers may be submitted in either Italian or English.

Contribution: Each paper must be submitted in .doc format and must not exceed 45,000 characters, footnotes and spaces included. The contribution must be accompanied by a complete bibliography (including all references of each work cited)<sup>1</sup>, a brief bibliographical note by the author (max 500 characters), an abstract (max 1000 characters) and 3 keywords.

Graphs, tables, and images: For copyrighted graphs and tables, a release for their use and reproduction must be provided. Images are, in general, not allowed.

Deadlines: Submission: December 31, 2022. Acceptance notification: January 31, 2023. Final version submission: February 28, 2023.

Submission: Submissions should be emailed to gaetano.lisi@uniecampus.it and info@tabedizioni.it, with the following subject line: “Human capital and sustainable development - call for papers”. There is no submission fee.

Publication: Expected date: Fall 2023. There is no publication fee.
